Location

Superbly located for those looking for a secluded property with no near neighbours, in what is arguably one of the most attractive locations available on the market at present. It is nestled on the edge of the Cambrian Mountains enjoying dramatic scenic views over the surrounding countryside and is within a dark skies area, benefitting from some of the darkest skies in Europe.

The area surrounding the property is renowned for its wildlife. It was believed to be one of the last remaining Red Kite nesting sites in the area, at a time when they became virtually extinct. It now has a thriving population. Numerous other bird species are prevalent in the area and the property is located on the edge of the Mid Wales red squirrel partnership protection areas. Berthgoed is also home to two bat species, Soprano Pipistrelle and Natterers bats, both having maternity roosts at the property, as well as migratory swallows, whose return always marks the arrival of Spring.

The property is at the end of a recently upgraded hard based track, providing privacy and seclusion. There is also a bridle path for those with equestrian interests, providing access to miles of outriding.

Berthgoed is approximately 1 mile from the Strata Florida Abbey, an important historical site, and some 2½ miles from the village community of Pontrhydfendigaid with village shop, community hall, primary school and public houses. 8 miles south lies the town of Tregaron, providing a wider range of amenities with 3-16 schooling, a good selection of independent shops, convenience store, doctors surgery, chemist and a superb pub/hotel etc. The property is also only 30 minutes from the Mid Wales hub-town of Aberystwyth with University, Railway Station, General Hospital with A&E, and a myriad of independent shops and many national retail outlets including M&S, Next, Morrisons etc.

The Farmhouse

Description

The approach to Berthgoed is by a winding road that leads to what initially appears to be a traditional farmhouse, however, it soon reveals its true nature, combining traditional character with modern, light, open plan living. The farmhouse has been developed with a superb new kitchen and feature living area that elegantly combines the traditional character of the farmhouse with the flow of modern life. The property benefits from many environmentally friendly features including: biomass heating, with RHI payments, the Farmhouse has underfloor heating in the newer elements; solar PV panels, with FITS payments; hot water solar panels and an EV charger. Further, private water is provided from a borehole with a back-up spring.

This diverse, appealing property is complimented by the attractive stone barn that has been partly converted into two bedroomed overflow accommodation, also heated by the biomass boiler, that is currently used as a hobby room and gym, together with further garage, workshop space and wood store.

This is a farmhouse oozing with charm and character, and has the benefit of modern conveniences including double glazing throughout, central heating and high levels of insulation.
